When ANN'S sister SARAH died in 1829, a similar purchase was made. This record indicates that ANN'S plot was opened but other records show SARAH in what became #30-27. Also the record gives the daughter's name as MARY SOUTHARD.

After making the purchase, SAMUEL was buried in C-West 141 and his children were moved from their original graves with both being buried in D-West 140.

ANN originally had a headstone and a footstone according to the earlier record. What became of this is not known.

The children's marker that is no present is for SARAH and JOHN but whether JOHN is buried there or not remains a question. JOHN SOUTHARD died just before Samuel moved to Washington, DC from Trenton, NJ and he was buried in the east yard of the 1st Presbyterian Church on West State Street.

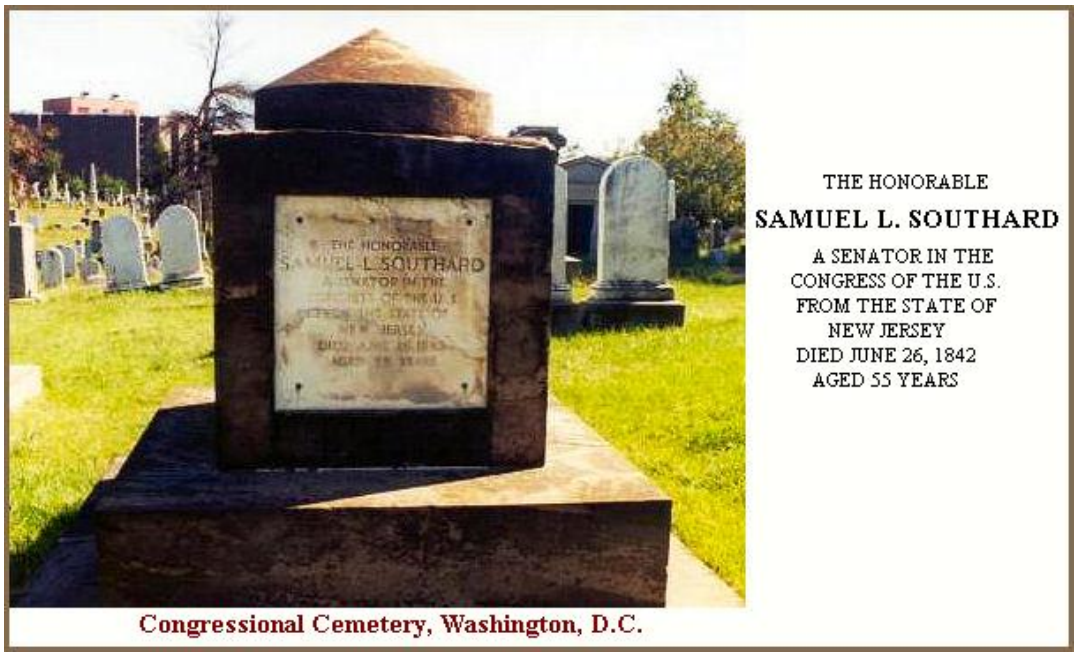
Detailed accounting of the buying, moving, burying, & digging after the death of SAMUEL L. SOUTHARD in 1842.



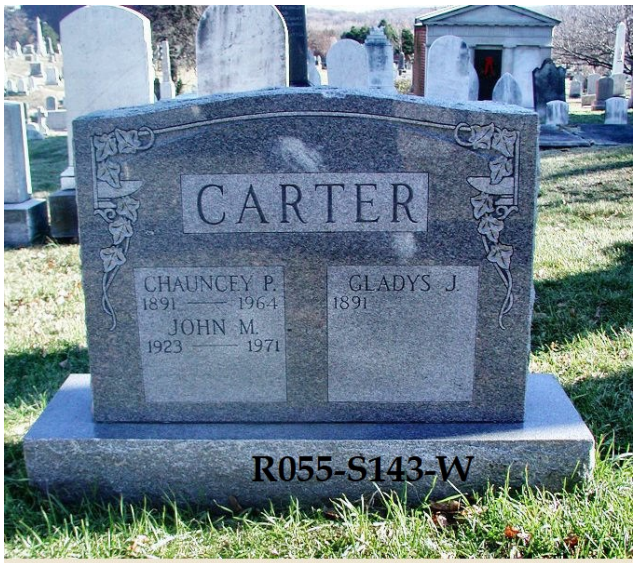
Congressional Cemetery, Washington, D.C.

Cenotaph with children's marker behind.

Ann & Sarah were moved to Southard plot; John is buried in Trenton, NJ. Ann's original gravemarker was lost when she was moved here.

Then something odd occurs … see it?

The Southard plot is marked containing the cenotaph and two markers; the unknown Carters in the right rear. The original burial sites of Ann & Sarah are visible in this shot (though not marked)



Two, perhaps three, unknown and possibly unauthorized persons buried in the Southard plot.

Who are these people and what are they doing buried in SAMUEL SOUTHARD'S plot?

The cemetery office supplied the burial list:

Carter burials in Southard plot apparently without authorization to use the empty graves.

… and the records of the Carter's burials… but no explanation about burying two, perhaps three, persons in the Southard family plot who appear to have no relationship to the family. There also appears to be no authorization for the burials from the descendant who would actually be the owner of the plot. There is also no record of any repurchase of these graves from the Southard family by the cemetery or by the Carters before they were buried there.

Moving to Manhattan but staying with the family of SAMUEL L SOUTHARD. SAMUEL'S daughter VIRGINIA was buried in the Laight vault in Trinity Churchyard despite owning a large plot in Trinity Cemetery where it is believed, but not confirmed, her mother REBECCA had been buried in 1861. VIRGINIA was removed to her plot in the Upper Westside cemetery in a few months. Trinity Cemetery is between West 153rd and West 155th from the west side of Broadway to Riverside Drive in Washington Heights.

Virginia Hoffman was first buried in the Laight vault in Trinity Churchyard in 1886 before being moved to her plot in Trinity Cemetery on the Upper Westside.

Virginia Hoffman purchased lot 603, western division on 1 June 1863, six months after the death of her mother Rebecca (Harrow) Southard (died 1 January 1863). Cemetery records only state she was buried in a private vault. Virginia was buried here 28 April 1886 after 2 months in the Laight vault.

SAMUEL'S son HENRY was killed in the Civil War and was buried in the cemetery of the Church of the Intercessions which is on the east side of Broadway between West 153rd and West 155th, opposite Trinity Cemetery. It extends to Amsterdam. When he was buried the Church of the Intercession was located on the east side of Amsterdam at West 154th Street. It is not clear if Intercession's cemetery was the same one it has today or not.
